Pronunciation of Tube Stations

English pronunciation is not simple because of:

- Extra vowel sounds: London /LÄNDEN/, Borough /BÄRE/, and Southwark /SÄDHÉRk/ share the same stressed vowel, the strut vowel /Ä/, and the same unstressed vowel: the schwa /E/. The schwa is the most common sound in English, but doesn't have a specific letter and doesn't exist in many other languages.
- Complex spelling rules: Blackwall /BLAKWOOL/, Star Lane /ISTÄR LEIN/, and Mudchute /MÄDSHUÛT/ are not considered difficult to pronounce by native speakers. Why is this the case? It's because of complex yet consistent rules. For instance, the letter  is generally pronounced as /Ä/, but shifts depending on what follows—for example, /OO/ in <all>, /AA/ in <ar>, and /EI/ in <a_e>. Similarly, there are two common pronunciations for : /Ä/ and /UÛ/ but the sequence <u_e> is invariably pronounced as /UÛ/. Speakers learn these rules through associations with common words spelled similarly, such as: call /KOOOL/, car /KAAr/, case /KEIS/, and June /JUUN/.
- Multiple Exceptions: Sometimes, even native speakers are not sure of the pronunciation as there are words that don't resemble anything else, such as South Quay /SAÛTH KIL/. Other times, even more confusingly, they look like something else yet are pronounced differently, like Greenwich /GRENICH/ and Plaistow /PLAASTËU/.
- Disappearing consonants: Some consonants are always silent, like the <c> in Leicester Square /LESTËR SKWEER/. Others are usually silent, although you may occasionally hear them, such as the <l> in Holborn /HEÛBËRN/. These are indicated with an apostrophe, and learners are advised not to pronounce them. Some are usually pronounced but optionally dropped, especially in fast speech. For example, <t> and <d> at the end of words when the following word starts with a consonant (e.g., Coverd Garden /KOVËN GAARDËN/). These are written in lowercase.
- The 'r' Special Case: Standard Southern British is a non-rhotic accent, and <r> is only pronounced if followed by a vowel sound. For example, in Honor Oak Park /ONËR ËÜK PAARK/, the <r> in Honor is pronounced, while the <r> in Park is not. Nevertheless, these silent r sounds are pronounced in many accents, and pronouncing them might make learners more easily understood by others.
- Conclusion: There is no agreement on the standard pronunciation of Marylebone, with many considered correct. However, there is a consensus that /MEERILEBËUN/, though it might seem like the most obvious choice, is certainly incorrect. The chosen pronunciation for the map is /MAARLEBËUN/, with the weak /U/ glide of the unstressed /ËU/ diphthong possibly barely perceptible.

L-IFA Phonemic Alphabet

The /LËKAANYË INGLISH FËNÏMIK ALFËBET/ (L-IFA) is an alternative to the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA), developed for all English learners. IPA symbols are unfamiliar and ambiguous making it difficult to memorise words. I remember repeatedly looking up [bəˈluːn] and [ˈlɪtrəʃe(r)] only to forget their pronunciation moments later. In response, L-IFA was developed as a bridge between spelling and pronunciation. It retains standard spelling whenever possible (but removes complex spelling rules and exceptions) and employs only a limited number of additional symbols. It is written in uppercase to reinforce pronunciation over written form; while lowercase is used for silent r and optional sounds, which may be pronounced or not. Optional sounds, which are usually not pronounced, are shown with an apostrophe. Once I wrote my frequently searched words as /BELÛUN/ and /LITRECHËr/, I no longer needed to search for their pronunciation again.

Standard Southern British (SSB)

SSB, also known as modern Received Pronunciation, is the trendy accent of today's multicultural Britain.
