Pronunciation of Tube Stations

English pronunciation is not simple because of Extra vowel sounds: London /LÄNDÉN/, Borough /BÄRÉ/, and Southwark /SÄDHÉRK/ share the same stressed vowel, the strut vowel /A/, and the same unstressed vowel: the schwa /É/. The schwa is the most common sound in English, but doesn't have a specific letter and doesn't exist in many other languages.

Complex Spelling rules: Blackwall /BLAKWOOЛ/, Star Lane /STAAR LEIN/, and Mudchute /MÄDSHÜT/ are not considered difficult to pronounce by native speakers. Why is this the case? It's because of complex yet consistent rules. For instance, the letter  is generally pronounced as /A/, but shifts depending on what follows—for example, /OO/ in <all>, /AA/ in <ar>, and /EИ/ in <ea>. Similarly, there are two common pronunciations for : /A/ and /U/ but the sequence <u_e> is invariably pronounced as /U/. Speakers learn these rules through associations with common words spelled similarly, such as: call /KOOL/, car /KAAR/, common /KEIS/, and June /JUUN/.

-Multiple Exceptions: Sometimes, even native speakers are not sure of the pronunciation as there are words that don't resemble anything else, such as South Quay /SOUTH KWEI/. Other times, even more confusingly, they look like something else yet are pronounced differently, like Greenwich /GRENNICH/ and Plaistow /PLAASHTU:/!

-Disappearing consonants: Some consonants are always silent, like the <> in Leicester Square /LÉS忒r SKWEEr/. Others are usually silent, although you may occasionally hear them, such as the <> in Holborn /HUEBƏRN/. These are indicated with an apostrophe, and learners are advised not to pronounce them. Some are usually pronounced but optionally dropped, especially in fast speech. For example, <>d and <>t at the end of words when the following word starts with a consonant (e.g., Cover Garden /KOVƏNT GAArDEN/). These are written in lowercase.

-The 'r' Special Case: Standard Southern British is a non-rhotic accent, and <r> is only pronounced if followed by a vowel sound. For example, in Honor Oak Park /ONÖR EÜK PAArK/, the <r> in Honor is pronounced, while the <r> in Park is not. Nevertheless, these silent r sounds are pronounced in many accents, and pronouncing them might make learners more easily understood by others.

-Conclusion: There is no agreement on the standard pronunciation of Marylebone, with many considered correct. However, there is a consensus that /MEERILÉBÉUN/, though it might seem like the most obvious choice, is certainly incorrect. The chosen pronunciation for the map is /MAALÉBÉUN/, with the weak /U/ glide of the unstressed /EÚ/ diphthong possibly barely perceptible.

L-IFA Phonemic Alphabet

The LÉKAANYÉ INGLISH FÉNÍMIK ALFÉBET (L-IFA) is an alternative to the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA), developed for all English learners. IPA symbols are unfamiliar and ambiguous making it difficult to memorise words. I remember repeatedly looking up [bə'lʊ:n], and [lɪtrə'lɪfə] only to forget their pronunciation moments later.

In response, L-IFA was developed as a bridge between spelling and pronunciation. It retains standard spelling whenever possible (but removes complex spelling rules and exceptions) and employs only a limited number of additional symbols. It is written in uppercase to reinforce pronunciation over written form; while lowercase is used for silent r and optional sounds, which may be pronounced or not. Optional sounds, which are usually not pronounced, are showed with an apostrophe. Once I wrote my frequently searched words as /BÉLUÓN/, and /LITRÉCHER/, I no longer needed to search for their pronunciation again.

Standard Southern British (SSB)

SSB, also known as modern Received Pronunciation, is the trendy accent of today's multicultural Britain.
